Course Description:
In recent years, there has been a steadily growing cultural interest in liminal beings that occupy ambiguous spaces between the cultural binarism of “living” and “dead.” This intensified interest is manifested, for instance, in various pop culture genres including films, comic books, video games, action figures, zombie walks and other phenomena. This course explores this cultural fascination and asks questions such as: Why should anthropologists study the undead?; How are notions of the undead understood and how do they manifest themselves cross-culturally?; What socio-cultural forces or anxieties have contributed to this cultural fascination with the undead?; How do liminal beings such as zombies or vampires intersect with pervasive anxieties concerning social change, disease, the effects of globalization, mobilities, borders, and other phenomena?

Course Texts:
The Serpent and the Rainbow, by Wade Davis (available in the McMaster bookstore)
All other course readings are posted on Avenue.

Evaluation:
1. In-class test: (25%) – On February 17, we will have an in-class test that will cover all class material up to and including the material.

2. Group Presentation: (25%) – Various due dates. By the second week of classes, you will be asked to sign up for a group presentation date/topic. More information will be provided during the first class.

3. Final paper: (30%) – due April 7. You will have a choice of topics for this question.

4. Participation: (15%) – Weekly class attendance and relevant contributions to discussion are expected. 7.5 marks are allocated to weekly attendance, and 7.5 marks are for active participation (answering and asking questions, showing evidence of engagement with readings, etc.).
6. Peer Review Session (5%) – Bring a copy of your final paper to class on March 31.

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check his/her McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

Academic dishonesty consists of misrepresentation by deception or by other fraudulent means and can result in serious consequences, e.g., the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university.

It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various kinds of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, Appendix 3, http://www.mcmaster.ca/policy/Students-AcademicStudies/AcademicIntegrity.pdf

The following illustrate only three forms of academic dishonesty:

1. Plagiarism, e.g., the submission of work that is not one’s own for which other credit has been obtained.
2. Improper collaboration in group work.
3. Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

FACULTY OF SOCIAL SCIENCES
E-MAIL COMMUNICATION POLICY

Effective September 1, 2010, it is the policy of the Faculty of Social Sciences that all e-mail communication sent from students to instructors (including TAs), and from students to staff, must originate from the student’s own McMaster University e-mail account. This policy protects confidentiality and confirms the identity of the student. It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that communication is sent to the university from a McMaster account. If an instructor becomes aware that a communication has come from an alternate address, the instructor may not reply at his or her discretion.

Email Forwarding in MUGSI:
http://www.mcmaster.ca/uts/support/email/emailforward.html
*Forwarding will take effect 24-hours after students complete the process at the above link (Approved at the Faculty of Social Sciences meeting on Tues. May 25, 2010)

Policy on the Submission of Assignments - Assignments submitted by e-mail will not be accepted. No extensions will be given unless written certification, approved by your Faculty office, is provided. Please note that policies concerning the use of MSAFs (McMaster Student Absence Forms) have changed (see http://www.mcmaster.ca/msaf/). Late assignments without appropriate documentation will be penalized 10% per day late, including weekend days. No assignments are accepted after 72 hours of the submission deadline, and you will receive a 0.

Missed Assessments or Exams - Students are responsible for arranging make-up exams/assignments with the instructor. A makeup exam/assessment will be granted on a case-by-case basis, and documentation from a physician is required. Please note – make-up exams will be in essay format.

Course Materials and Avenue to Learn (ATL) - Lectures will be presented using Power Point, an abbreviated version of which will be posted weekly on ATL. You must be registered in the course to have access to the 4BB3 site. Please familiarize yourself with the Avenue to Learn system. You can access ATL at: http://avenue.mcmaster.ca/?logout=1

Correspondence - I will check my email regularly throughout the week, so you can expect a response within approximately 48 hours. Please put 4BB3 in the subject line of your email and include your name and student number at the end of all correspondence.

Student Behavior and Responsibilities –
Your learning – it is your responsibility to keep up with the readings – do not leave them until the night before the exams. Attendance in this class is essential if you want to do well in this course. You are expected to think about the readings and integrate them into the information and concepts presented during lecture.

Classroom behavior – Please do not be afraid to ask questions or provide constructive comments! If you do not understand something, or if I have gone over a concept too fast, stop me and ask a question. Chances are if you do not understand something, other people in the class are in the same position.

Please ensure that cell phones are turned “off” (including text messaging, Twitter, etc…) and arrive on time for class. If you have to leave class early, please sit near one of the exits. Laptop computers may be used in class for taking notes, but students using their computers for any other purpose (e.g., checking Facebook) will be asked to turn their computers off. Please be polite to your neighbors and keep conversation to a minimum.
